8th EUROPEAN CONFERENCE on PROTECTIVE CLOTHING Upcoming Generation

We would like to introduce you to the 8th Edition of the European Conference on Protective Clothing, which will be held May from 7th to 9th of May 2018 in Porto, Portugal.

The conference intends to be a platform to disseminate, to exchange and to discuss the results of research, project developments and implementation programmes related to protective clothing, with a strong focus on user protection and well-being, installing a dialogue between industries and academic organizations. In addition, the purpose of the "Firefighters Theme Day" is to initiate interaction between end-users and scientists to create a better understanding of their worlds.

The organization would like to invite you to be a sponsor of this event. There are many advantages on being a sponsor, such as:

- › Exposing your brand, in a unique opportunity, to potential international clients and partners of your specific business area
- › Establishing networking with international advisors and investigators of your area of expertise
- › Constructing new networks and establish contacts for future relationships, strengthening your business with potential access to privileged information, research results and leadership positioning.
- › Increasing your employees skills on their expertise area by participating at the Conference Sessions and discussions.
- › Participating at the Conference and explore the potentialities of innovation opportunities within your business area.
